

I am strongly against consolidating ownership of our media. The news is slanted now as it is, and people don't research the truth or go to alternative sources. We view news as entertainment. With diverse ownership, there's a variety of opinions and points of view. It is too costly to start a competing outlet, so don't let a few owners gobble up what's now in place. Thanks.